Gregory L Morris is currently high-level consultant for Mcelhenny Sheffield in Dallas, TX. Previously, Morris was senior vice president, Chief Technical Analyst, and President of the Investment Committee for the Money Management Stadium, LLC. He also acts as president of the placement board. In this CAPACITÁ GREG has instructed institutional and individual customers on the merits of the technical analysis and because Stadion uses a technical model based on the rules, Greg supervised the management of over $ 6 Billion in six mutual funds, separate accounts and retirement plans. From December, 2003 to May, 2005, Greg acted as a trustee and councilor of the Murphymorris ETF fund. He also played the role of Treasurer and Executive Director of Murphyr Money Management Co., the Councilor of the Fund. Greg currently writes a blog on Stockcharts.com called Dancing With The Trend. Greg wrote three books with McGraw-Hill; The complete guide to the indicators of market breaches, a book that introduces an analysis of market amplitude for investors, a third edition (original edition in 1992) to its best-selling and widely expanded candlestick charting explained was published in March, 2006, and Candlestick Charting Spighthing Workbook, which was published in December, 2011. Greg has recently completed his fourth book, "Investing with Trend - A Rules-based approach to Money Management" Posted by John Wiley under L 'Label Bloomberg Press. This is a book on the defects of Finance Modern A, research on risk analysis and trends, and how to build a tendency based on the rules following the model. A 2011, Greg produced Japanese Candlestick model recognition software for MetaStock. It is an additional package that not only offers automatic identification to real models, but provides a sophisticated measure of trend analysis and automatic support and of resistance. Greg was a member of the National Association of Active Investment Manager (NAAIM) where he was president of the Wagner Paper Contest, the American Professional Technical Analysts (AAPT) and the Technical Market Association (MTA). During college he was a member of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics. From 1996 to 2002, Greg was CEO of Murphymorris, Inc., the leading provider of web-based market analysis tools, education and commentary. Murphymorris, Inc. was purchased from StockCharts.com, Inc. in October, 2002. In 1999, Greg and three associates started Murphyr Money Management Co. to manage assets for individuals. This focus was later changed to address the company which became the Director of the Murphymorris ETF Fund in January, 2004, and subsequently merged into the Stadium's family of funds (PMFM). From 1994 to 1996, he was president of G. Morris Corporation, a Dallas, Texas-based company that provided products and services to investors and traders. Its main product was a set of more than 450 Indicators - * Trading Systems that supported most window-based technical analysis software packages. From 1993 to 1994, Greg was part of MarketArts, Inc., which launched the first window-based technical analysis program, Windows on Wall Street. In 1992 he published a book on the analysis of the Japanese candlestick called CandlePower, now available in soft covers such as Candlesick Charting Spiegated (McGraw-Hill). Much recognized as a candelabra expert and developer of filter candlestick, he has held conferences around the world on the subject. From 1982 to 1993, he worked in partnership with N-Squared Computing, producing over fifteen technical analysis and software captions, many of which are actively used today. In May, 1989, he was awarded as an Outstanding Alumnus for 1989 by Pratt County College. Greg earned his pilot's license in 1967 and flew many versions of Cessna (Cessna 150 maximum take-off weight = 1,500 pounds) and single-engine Mooney During his seven years as a Navy pilot, he flew the T2-C Buckeye, A-4J Skyhawk, and his favorite military jet, the Ghost F-4J. While he was in the Navy, Marina, were recorded above the 240 (103-night) and exceeded twice the speed of sound. From 1978 to his retirement in 2004, Greg was a Delta Air Lines captain flying the Boeing 727, Lockheed L-1011, McDonal Douglas MD-88, MD-90, Boeing 757, Boeing 767, and his favorite McDonal MD-11 (maximum take-off weight = 625000 pounds). With his time as a private pilot, the Navy's flying career (1971-1976), and his flying career has accumulated 21000 hours of flight, and as he likes to say, he has never put a scratch on an airplane. He graduated from the University of Texas at Austin in the 1971, has a BS degree in Aerospace Engineering, has written numerous articles on investments, speaks to numerous seminars and investment groups, has appeared many times on Financial News Network (FNN), Fox Business, CNBC and Bloomberg TV. Greg was presented in Investor's Business Daily in December, 2007, Business Week in July 2008, Barron in January, 2009, titles and goods in September, 2009 and Bloomberg Markets in May, 2011. Greg was invited to Italy, Brazil, Vietnam, Canada, Hong Kong, Singapore and China to lecture on the merits of the technical analysis of the market. From 1971 to 1977, he was a fighter pilot of the F-4 Navy on board the USS Independence, which had been chosen for, and graduated from the Navy Fighter Weapons School known as Top Gun.
