COMPREHENSION

1 Air communications are vital for the safety of air travel. Listen to the two exchanges and answer the questions.

- a Which stand is 363 on?
 - b Where does the controller think 363 is?
 - c Which numbers and letters are incorrectly pronounced?
- a Which flight level is X2420 climbing to?
 - b What is the altitude of X2420?
 - c What two words does the controller confuse?

Look at the six language areas on page 2. Listen again to the two exchanges and look at the transcripts on page 3. Find an example of a difficulty with each language area.

Associations between vowels (first row) and synthesized sounds (first column) for 20 participants. The sounds were synthesized using the anatomical parameters of table 2 for the 5 Spanish vowels, as displayed in figure 2, and fixed source parameters (see Methods). The incorrectly associated audio files correspond mainly to neighboring vowels in the (F_1, F_2) space (see figure 2). doi:10.1371/journal.pone.0028317.t001

WWW.AVIATIONEDUCATIONS.IR

The image shows a page from an aviation English exam. It contains several listening exercises. Exercise 8 asks to listen to two exchanges and answer questions about which one uses plain English and why. Exercise 9 asks to choose the best ATC response to complete each exchange. There are three exchanges with multiple-choice options. Exercise 10 asks to listen and check answers, then answer questions about the exchanges. The page includes a header with the website URL and a footer with a small logo.
