National Lacrosse LeGegeecorey Knappontcontributor Inbozo 25, 2019The Calgary Orascecks and Buffalo Bandits arrived at the NLL Finals last season, with Calgary winning their third league championship. Lacrosse National League starts its 34th season on Friday, with two games to light the weekend. The 13 NLL teams will play from black Friday until the regular season ends at the end of April, and the playoffs will take place throughout May. The most important changes of this season are a couple of new franchises, as well as a new alignment of the division, with the introduction of the North Division to go with the east and west. Find everything you need to know about the upcoming NLL season, including new teams and divisions, schedules and matches, playoff format, featured players to watch, and how to watch and broadcast every live game every season.Expansion TeamsThe NLL grows from 11 teams last season to 13 this season. The New York Riptide is an expansion team and will play your home games on Long Island. The Halifax Thunderbirds arrive after moving from Rochester in the lower season and will present much of the same list as a year ago. The Nova Scotia team became the fifth Canadian team in the NLL, joining Calgary, Saskatchewan, Toronto and Vancouver. The NLL filled its Rochester vacuum quickly, granting a franchise of expansion to the city. The new team maintains the same name as Rochester Knighthawks, but will debut a new identity, logo and colors. The expansion teams participated in the expansion draft this summer, with a group of players available from each league team. Then, each of them had the best selections in each round of the NLL input draft in September. Playoffs divisions and classification with additional equipment, the NLL expands from two to three divisionsthis season. The Riptide will play in the Eastern Division, while the Thunderbirds and Knighthawks will play in the North. Two teams in the East last season, Toronto and Buffalo, complete the North.North. The readjustment did not affect the teams of the West Division. East Division Georgia SwarmNew York RiptideNew England Black Wolves Philadelphia WingsWest Division Calgary Roughnecks Colorado MammothSan Diego SealsSaskatchewan RushVancouver WarriorsNorth DivisionBuffalo BanditsHalifax Thunderbirds Rochester Knighthawks Toronto RockAlso with Realignment, the playoff format changed. Playoff matches before the NLL final will no longer be limited to teams from the same division. It will be a pure support format among the eight teams that make the playoffs. The three winners of the division will automatically qualify for the playoffs and receive the three main seeds, with the No.1 seed going to the winner of the division with the best overall record. The three second place teams in each division will make the playoffs and win seeds from four to six, with the team with the best record among them winning seed No. 4. The last two wild card points will go to the two remaining teams with the best record. The first round of the single elimination will correspond to the numbers 1 vs. 8, Nos. 2 vs. 7, Nos. 3 vs. 6 and Nos. 4 vs. 5. The second round/semifinals will feature those winners and it will also be a single elimination. The NLL Finals will be a best-of-three series. The team with the best record in the regular season will host Game 1 and the if necessary Game 3. Faceoff Weekend Matchups, Full Season Schedule During the regular 18-game NLL season, each team will play each other team in the league at least once. Teams of the same division will be played at least twice. You can learn more about the timetable design here. The NLL season opens with its annual Faceoff weekend.
